CONSTIPATION is such a widespread malady that many people regard it almost as a natural condition. It should never be neglected, however, for if it be it will give rise to a great many of our serious ailments. The great modern cure for constipation and all other ailments connected with disorder of the bowels and digestive organs is Charles F. Ford's Little Blue Pills, which have equalled as a rubric and restorative for these important organs.

"I say, without hesitation," writes an eminent physician, "that the cause of one-half of women's ailments is constipation. As a result, headache, dizziness, irritability, and all the other maladies follow freely, and from one root cause I cure that, and cure the cause of one-half of women's ailments."

Can habitual constipation be cured? It can, if Chas. Ford's Little Blue Pills are properly applied and persisted in. Mrs. Elizabeth H. Ford, 700 York Street, Dublin, Ireland, says: "I had always been free from constipation but towards the end of last year the complaint became serious, and was attended by the most excruciating abdominal pains. My appetite, nevertheless, seemed to leave me neither, and I became almost unable to eat a baby. For months I continued in this state. Nothing did me good, and I had almost given up hope when I saw mention in the evening paper of a remarkable cure brought about by Charles Ford's little blue pills. I bought a box of the pills at once. At first I was a little doubtful, but when I began to feel better, and by the end of a week there was no further doubt that my condition was vastly improved and that I was on the high-way to recovery. Gradually my bowels became regular, my health improved, my activity, and my terrestrial pleasures had once more ceased to be a torment. My little blue pills had cured me, and that when I had certainly earned my money well again."

Charles Ford's Little Blue Pills for Biliousness are a cure for indigestion, stomach weakness, nervous ailments, heat of the face, burning, numbness, rheumatic swellings, flatulency, pains in the back, piles, constipation, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, liver complaint, headache, fits, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism, hemorrhoids, pimples, eruptions and skin diseases, having a common origin in the bowels and the general condition of the system and the blood.

And all these and many other ailments cured by all chemists and medicine vendors.

Price 25 cents (Mass) per bottle.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

We are waiting for WHAT'S NEXT, surprises in the fiscal controversy. Mr. Balfour got in ahead of Mr. Chamberlain in calling for a Colonial Conference, and explaining with significant emphasis that he was not a Protectionist and would never head a Protectionist party.

Then he hedged, by giving a new definition of Protection as the method of supporting home industries by keeping up home prices, so he is still able to interpret his speech by the light of future events. Mr. Chamberlain was much more definite, though his Luton speech certainly reads as if there is some change about to come over his teaching. It would be wise to take care in calling together the proposed Colonial Conference to avoid making it representative of the political party in power in each Colony. Fiscal Reform is not a party question at all, and orators who make it one are retarding its settlement equally by their opposition and by their support. Men who in business matters are discreet and rational, set all reason aside when a political question is before them and follow their party as rigidly as David Deans when he was asked whether, in calling a physician, he would question him on the nature of his religious principles.

"Wad I no?" answered David, "but I wad, though; and if he didna satisfy me that he had a right sense of the right hand and left hand defections of the day, not a gutt of his phisic should gang through my father's son."

Much of the opposition is due to a profound distrust of Mr. Chamberlain, who has, it is true, left more leaders than any other statesman of the times.

This only means that he has progressed while they have loitered.
When will men learn to put principles before parties, and judge policies not individuals? The time will come, and a sufficiently widely representative Colonial Conference should hasten it.
One of the chief surprises of late is the buying out of the Standard.

That was a smartly-engineered piece of campaign work, and robs the Free-traders of their chief support. It was a great strong fighter on their behalf.
Now it will turn its guns upon them.
What is next?

Spectators at the Cricket A SURPRISE Ground today were treated to an exhibition of excellent bowling and fielding on the part of the Shanghai and Straits Elovonis, and also witnessed the collapse of a team reputedly strong in batting. The Straits team, by winning the toss, took the wickets first and the Shanghai men were sent into the field with the prospect of a day's leather hunting before them.

Subsequent events showed that such was not to be the case. Potter and Turnbull took charge of the bowling and the former was in fine fettle. The wicket was true and unduly favoured neither side. Before the Straits supporters had time to realise the fact their best men were out.
Three wickets were lost for 32 runs, and the men dismissed were the Sou-thamers' pick. Then's stand was made. Forty runs were added before the next wicket fell, and the collapse thoroughly began. Five wickets went down for five runs! The Shanghai Elovonis were jubilant. Lanning had replaced Turnbull, after the latter had bowed four overs for 20 runs and had taken two wickets, and he and his captain completed the rout. The last wicket put on 14 runs and was thrown away by Rees. Potter kept an excellent length and utterly demoralised his opponents, while Lanning also bowed better than he did against Hongkong. Potter's five wickets were taken at a cost of 7.20 runs each, while Lanning's three cost 7.66. The only man to make a stand for the Straits was Barrett, who compiled 40—almost as many as the rest of the team combined. He hit five fours and one sixer. Verily, cricket is a game of surprises. It is the uncertainties that exist in it that make it exciting.

Almost everyone imagined the Singapore men were going to wipe Shanghai right off the face of the field. Their frightful collapse was thoroughly disconcerting. But Shanghai wickets fell quickly, too. They did not escape.
After opening well a 'rot' set in. The first two wickets realised more than half of the Straits' total, but the next five wickets fell before the total was reached. With Dew and Wallace in, however, the prospects of Shanghai brightened. By careful play the score was gradually increased until the century was passed, but when Shanghai was 21 runs to the good the last wicket fell. The bowling and fielding of the Straits was high-class, Whitley and Wyatt being the most successful trundles. Whitley bowled fast throughout and captured his three wickets at an average cost of 5 runs, while Wyatt's two wickets were taken at an average of 9.5. The judicious placing of the field by Captain Talbot resulted in many runs being saved, which otherwise would have been scored. Then the Straits went in for their second innings, and once more began to fall out rapidly. Two wickets fell for 12 runs. Barrett and Bradbery, however, staved the impending calamity and played out time. The Straits were then 59 runs to the good but had lost two wickets. An interesting position.

Annie Carroll, eldest daughter of Mr. J.
Carroll, late of the T.W.D., Hongkong.
Miss Daisy Carroll, sister to the bride, acted as bridesmaid. Mr. R. Smiles, chief engineer of the s.s. Linton gave the bride-away, and Mr. Young of the I.M.C., Sanshui, acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired on board the Nanning, where Capt. Butchart gave them a royal reception. The young bride is a well-known resident of Hongkong and by her amiable ways has won the hearts of a good many residents.

THE ANOINTMENT OF KING PETER.

A curious custom is observed at the Monastery of Zicha, where King Peter of Serbia was anointed. Every King, at his Coronation, opens a new door to the Monastery, which, immediately after the ceremony, is walled up. For centuries there have been seven such doors, each doubled after its respective King, and doubled, an eighth door was opened and walled up for King Peter, though the actual Coronation took place at Belgrade Cathedral. King Milan was neither crowned nor anointed, and as King Alexander was not crowned, but only anointed at Zicha, there is a notion that the Obrenovitch Kingdom through which the Royal party drove ten hours every day to reach Zicha, are noted for their hatred of the Obrenovitchs; and at one of them an old peasant, addressing King Peter, began insulting the extinct Dinias. King Peter, however, had the good taste to stop the man and say, "The Obrenovitchs were my enemies, and those of my family; but that does not prevent me from saying, as a Serbian, that this House has done great things for Serbia; and it must not be insulted in my presence." You are a good and a just King," the peasant exclaimed, and the peasant women kissed the hem of his garment, whereupon, it is reported, he danced the Kolo with them.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Defence Committee and the Crisis.

31st, says a press communication states that there is no foundation for the report telegraphed to the effect that during the present crisis the Defence Committee had agreed that Lord Kitchener should occupy the plains of Kandahar and Kabul with the Amir's consent.

Colin Campbell and Nancy Leiter.
It is reported from San Francisco that Miss Nancy Leiter, sister of Lady Curzon is to be married to Captain Colin Campbell of the British army. The announcement has created considerable surprise in the social world, and particularly among the Scottish of Chicago where Miss Leiter lives. Captain Campbell is many years her senior and was considered one of the best of officers when Miss Leiter visited her sister in India a short time since. Miss Leiter is the daughter of Levi Z. Leiter, one of Chicago's wealthiest capitalists.

AN EVENTFUL VOYAGE.

The 'Tourane's' Experiences Homeward from China.

A correspondent writes us from Djibouti on the 12th of September, as follows :—The events of the homeward voyage of the s.s.
Tourane commenced before she had fairly left China, for on the 18th of August a French soldier jumped overboard, stripped himself of his uniform in the water and attempted to reach the last lightship on the way to Wosung, but he was captured China. The Tourane was ordered to leave Hongkong on the 23rd of August at 1 p.m. but the storm signals caused her to delay her departure from the harbour until 8 p.m. Then she made a sixteen hours' excursion round the Island of Hongkong and anchored off the Western entrance to the port in view of the semaphore for two days. During this period there was every indication of a typhoon coming, but not only by barometer reading, but by the large number of wrecked junk which floated past the steamer. Around Hongkong there must have been great loss of life and property.

Arrived at Saigon, the departure was announced for 2 p.m., but what happened was not the official knowledge, the fact is no one but the officials knew. The Tourane steamer did not get away till hours after at Singapore there must have been another hitch for the vessel was to leave at 7 p.m. and did not throw off her moorings till 9 p.m. At Colombo the Tourane was announced to leave at 4 p.m. which brought all the passengers hurrying back into a cloud of confusion to find that the steamer did not leave her anchorage until 9 p.m.
Just before her departure an unfortunate event took place involving loss of life.
About the last coal barge was getting back from the ship to shore when a large British steamer ran it down. Two of the crew of labourers disappeared in the water, one was rescued by a native boat, and the other died. The vessel was in an exhausted condition and the rest of the voyage barges, while some European in a white coat paddled about to satisfy his curiosity without making any attempt to help the poor fellows in danger of their lives.

On the 8th September, whilst in the Indian Ocean, on the way from Colombo to Djibouti a passenger jumped overboard, and was drowned. He was a Major Talbot, an official architect, aged about 50 years.
He had been about 30 years in Cambodia and twice visited France during that period.
He had a salary of £200 a year and was just going to Europe on a pension. He left a widow, who is, at the same time, his niece, and about 32 years. He is said to have been mentally deranged for some months past. The widow, who is on board will have a pension of one third of that which he would have received. The deceased also leaves property in Cambodia.
This event took place about 11 a.m. and the body was buried at 8.30 p.m.; the same day, the ceremony being attended by a French priest, a French mission brother, and an Italian friar.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.—The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to this disease it can be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the attack cough appears, it will prevent the attack It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mother. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effective. No other preparation can show such a record—over thirty years' constant use without a failure. It always cures.

HARMSTON'S CIRCUS.
The Opening Night.

Harmston's Circus was welcomed by a full 'house' at Causeway Bay last night, and the audience were well rewarded for their attendance. The performance is on the same lines as most entertainments of the kind, but it would be difficult to find so many good performers grouped together under one head.

The Grand Entree, which was the opening item, was a graceful turn, in which six ladies and six horses figured, and the various manoeuvres were well done. There were several excellent exhibitions of horsemanship on the part of Miss Nellie Harmston Love, and Madame Marguerite given during the evening, while the acrobatic clowns, the brothers Bungy, gave a number of interesting turns, one of the best being entitled 'The Chinese Acrobats.'

The display of Wyndham and Kitty on the tight rope was especially good and neat, Wyndham's final act, that of being lashed over six chairs balanced on the wire, being loudly applauded. The American Cake Walk, by Miss Jenny Harmston Love, a tiny mite was very good and she was rewarded by loud applause. J. W. Cooke, in his baroque exhibition of riding showed that he has improved since he was last seen here, and it would be hard to name another rider who can equate his work.

George Ginnett, an old circus hand, introduced Jean d'Arc, a dark mare, and he put her through a number of evolutions, directing her from the ground by inclining his hand. We must not forget the elephant, whose ponderous size makes him an object of attraction. After completing his performance the elephant lifted up his trunk in his trunk and marched out of the ring with him. The trapeze display by the Joes was very daring and sensational, and was one of the 'bit bits' of the entertainment.

Some of the leaps performed by the man to the woman on the trapeze, in one of which he turned two somersaults while the woman was nerve-straining. Miss Rhonda is a clever and pretty juggler and whether with billiard balls or plates she was equally at home. The Musical Clown made music as he liked from all manner of instruments.

A pretty song and dance by the Misses Florence and Violet Barnard was well received, and Mr. Daniel, the animal trainer later entered the ring, cage, to the alarm of all present. The performance was a good one and deserved the success it attained. All through the audience were kept in a ripple of laughter, which now and then broke out into roars as quaint quips fell from the lips of the clowns. The performances will be repeated until further notice. Special trainings, performances, Ridehaws in plenty can also be obtained.
To-morrow afternoon a matinee will be held, when all the children should be taken to see the exhibition.

THE 'WONGKOT' UJINA COLLISION.

Evidence For The Plaintiffs.
The case was continued, at the Supreme Court, this morning, in which the Norddeutscher Lloyd Company, owners of the steamer Wongkot, claimed $10,000, and the British India Company, owners of the Ujina, $50,000, for damages sustained in a collision on August 13.

His Lordship Sir H. S. Berkeley, Chief Justice, and Hon. Captain Darnley-Lawrence occupied the Bench.

When the Court resumed, Mr. Slade said he had

INTERPORT CRICKET.

Collapse of Singapore.

All Out for 83.

The second match of the Interport series, between Shanghai and the Straits, commenced to-day on the Cricket Ground. The weather conditions were perfect; the air was cool and the light bright, while the sun's rays were tempered by a nice breeze which came from the north. Compared with the previous day the attendance was poor, there being only a few seats occupied. The wicket was pitched a little to the north of the one played on last week, and was in good condition.

The Shanghai wicket-keeper, Drummond stood out of the team, being replaced by A. H. Moulle. Macgregor, of the Straits team was absent, so that they had just the bare number.

It was 1.45 before the Straits batsmen—Whitley and Hubbard—took their places at the wickets. Potter went on to bowl and Whitley scored a boundary off the first ball by a cut to the pavilion, adding two a little later by a leg-glance. Turnbull went on at the Western end, and off his first over eleven runs were scored, five to Hubbard four to Whitley and two byes. Potter had Hubbard in trouble in his next over and completely beat him with an excellent delivery. One wicket for 17.

Captain Barrett went in and scored three off Potter—a cut for two and a single. A few minutes later Whitley's end came, he being clean bowled by Turnbull. Two for 21.

Bradbery opened with a drive to the boundary off Potter, and then registered another single. All Potter's deliveries were fast and came on the off-side.

Turnbull's deliveries were on the leg-side and he struck Barrett on the leg twice. His third delivery Barrett pulled for four and then cut him for a single, driving Potter for another single just afterwards.

Bradbery, in attempting to drive Potter, just touched the ball to T. Wallace, the wicket-keeper, who held it. Three for 32.

Wyatt followed. Barrett was hitting well, and drove Turnbull twice to the boundary. Next he lifted him over into Queen's Road, and then scored a single, making fifteen runs off the over. Wyatt, a left-hander, late-cut Potter for four, and a change in the bowling took place, V. H. Lanning replacing Turnbull. Shortly afterwards Wyatt gave a chance to Dew in the ship, but the opportunity was missed. Wyatt began to bat vigorously and cut Lanning twice in succession to the railings, and Barrett leg-glanced Potter for four. After a spell of steady play V. Lanning was applauded for stopping a bad drive from Barrett, and two deliveries later he captured the batsman's wicket, clean bowling him. Four for 74.

Capt. Talbot then went in and was instrumental in getting Wyatt run out. Talbot played a ball from Potter to mid-on and Wyatt commenced to run, in response to a call from Talbot. When he had traversed about one-third of the wicket, Talbot cried out: 'No! No!' It was too late, however. Wyatt tried to get back, but could not and was run out. Five for 76.

A. Stronach opened his innings by steady play, but soon lost his partner, who was beaten by Potter and clean bowled. Six for 76.

Cochrane went in next and was all at ease when facing Lanning. He scored a single and after playing two from Lanning Stronach was clean bowled. Seven for 77.

Perkins joined Cochrane, who was clean bowled by Potter, after he had scored two runs. Eight for 77. The ball was a fast one and sent the batsman flying, one ball going 43 yards 2 feet 8 inches.

Parsons partnered Perkins, and a single was scored by the latter off Lanning. A little later Parsons returned one to Potter which was held. Nine for 78.

Rees, wearing the South Australian colours, joined Perkins, and the latter drove Potter for four. Rees drove Lanning for a single and Perkins glanced the same bowler for four, then for a single. Rees played one to mid-on and ran, and was thrown out by Parsons. All out for 83.

The wickets fell as follows:—1 for 17, 2 for 21, 3 for 32, 4 for 74, 5 for 76, 6 for 77, 7 for 77, 8 for 77, 9 for 79, 10 for 83.

Shanghai's First Innings.
With only 93 runs to get to equal the Straits' score Shanghai opened the first innings. Parsons and the bowlers were Rees and Parsons. Off Rees' first over Parsons scored eight runs. Parsons played a couple of boundaries and Parsons again cut Rees for four, afterwards pulling him to leg for a single. The play was steady for a while, then Parsons cut Rees to the pavilion. Both batsmen cut Parsons' deliveries. Lanning for four and one and Parsons for four. Rees then captured Parsons' wicket, leg before. One for 24.

W. H. Moulle filled the vacant crease and blocked the rest of Rees' over. Parsons bowled a maiden, and Moulle played Rowe to leg for one. In Rees' next over Moulle scored a boundary and a single, and the play proceeded quietly, until Lanning glanced Rees to leg for four. A couple of singles and a leg boundary to Moulle brought the total to over 40, when the first adjournment took place, the score being one wicket for 47.

The Afternoon's Play.
Shanghai Bats Weakly.
The game was recommenced after tiffin, when the attendance had increased considerably. The day had developed into ideal cricket weather, the cool breeze that was still blowing was very much appreciated by the players, although it brought a breath of winter to the spectators. The dresses of the ladies were more inclined for warmth than display, although there were many pretty frocks to be seen. The band of the Sherwood Forest was present and played several selections.

When the game was resumed a double change in the bowling took place, Whitley relieving Parsons and Wyatt taking Rees' place. The first ball from Whitley scattered Moulle's wicket, and the second wicket was down for 47.

E. Wallace went to the crease and after a few runs had been scored was bowled by a Yorker from Wyatt. Three for 56.

Potter, the Shanghai captain, joined Lanning, who drove Whitley for a couple. Next ball he was out, leg before wicket. Four for 58.

Turnbull joined his captain, and endeavored to stem the tide of misfortune that had set in. Potter had a miraculous escape just afterwards for he hooked a delivery from Wyatt, which rolled to his wicket and struck it without removing the balls. Turnbull cut the ball from Wyatt and commenced to run. The ball was smartly fielded and Potter called on him not to run. It was too late for Turnbull to get back and he was run out. Five for 61.

O. V. Lanning went in next and returned again without scoring. Leg before wicket. Six for 61.

Dew joined Potter and drove Wyatt to the boundary. A single was credited to each batsman off Whitley and Dew was struck by a hard delivery from the same bowler. After a brief respite the game went on, some smart fielding being shown by the Straits Eleven. Next over Wyatt bowled Potter, after he had made 11. Seven for 75.

S. Wallace took his place at the wickets, and glanced Wyatt to leg for four, bringing 20 up. After a quiet over Dew pulled Whitley for four and leg-glanced him for one. The batsman drove Wyatt for one, and next over glanced him to leg for four. Rees again went on to bowl, taking Whitley's place at the Western end. A couple of byes were scored, then Wallace brought the total up to that of the Straits by a glance to leg. Cochrane took Wyatt's place at the bow, and Wallace placed him to leg for four. The total was brought to 100 by Wallace driving Cochrane to leg for four. Rees bowled Wallace in his next over, knocking down the middle stump. Eight for 104.

Moulle filled the vacancy and played the rest of Rees' over. Dew drove Cochrane to the boundary, and cut him to the railings. Moulle was playfully uneasy when facing Rees, but drove the fourth delivery for a single. His end came next over, for in trying to pull Cochrane he missed and the ball struck his pads. Leg before. Nine for 116.

Dunman, the last man, then went in, and Dew got Rees away for two, then for one. Rees captured Dunman's wicket before the over closed by bowling him. All out for 118.

Turnbull joined his captain, and endeavored to stem the tide of misfortune that had set in. Potter had a miraculous escape just afterwards for he hooked a delivery from Wyatt, which rolled to his wicket and struck it without removing the balls. Turnbull cut the ball from Wyatt and commenced to run. The ball was smartly fielded and Potter called on him not to run. It was too late for Turnbull to get back and he was run out. Five for 61.

O. V. Lanning went in next and returned again without scoring. Leg before wicket. Six for 61.

Dew joined Potter and drove Wyatt to the boundary. A single was credited to each batsman off Whitley and Dew was struck by a hard delivery from the same bowler. After a brief respite the game went on, some smart fielding being shown by the Straits Eleven. Next over Wyatt bowled Potter, after he had made 11. Seven for 75.

S. Wallace took his place at the wickets, and glanced Wyatt to leg for four, bringing 20 up. After a quiet over Dew pulled Whitley for four and leg-glanced him for one. The batsman drove Wyatt for one, and next over glanced him to leg for four. Rees again went on to bowl, taking Whitley's place at the Western end. A couple of byes were scored, then Wallace brought the total up to that of the Straits by a glance to leg. Cochrane took Wyatt's place at the bow, and Wallace placed him to leg for four. The total was brought to 100 by Wallace driving Cochrane to leg for four. Rees bowled Wallace in his next over, knocking down the middle stump. Eight for 104.

Moulle was playfully uneasy when facing Rees, but drove the fourth delivery for a single. His end came next over, for in trying to pull Cochrane he missed and the ball struck his pads. Leg before. Nine for 116.

Dunman, the last man, then went in, and Dew got Rees away for two, then for one. Rees captured Dunman's wicket before the over closed by bowling him. All out for 118.

Dew played a careful game for 35 and gave no chances.

The following fall as follows:—1 for 24, 2 for 47, 3 for 58, 4 for 58, 5 for 61, 6 for 61, 7 for 75, 8 for 104, 9 for 116, 10 for 118.

The Straits' Second Innings.
Hubbard and Wyatt opened Singapore's second innings and Lanning commenced the bowling. The first wicket fell inside of a few minutes, Hubbard being caught by Potter off V. H. Lanning, with only one run to his credit. One wicket for 1.

Rune came alone slowly and when Wyatt had only seven to his credit he hit one high from Lanning and W. Moulle took a difficult catch with one hand, at more than half way to the scoring board. Two wickets for 12.

Bradbery came next and both men commenced to hit out freely but the runs were kept down by good fielding. Turnbull relieved Lanning with the ball at the pavilion end of the ground and a single brought Barrett opposite to him and the latter cut him away nicely for four, bringing 40 in sight. Bradbery played some nice strokes around the wicket and made runs steadily without giving any chances. Dew took up the bowling at Potter's end to Barrett and the latter got his last ball away to the boundary making the score 53. One into the ladies' pavilion followed by Barrett. Play at this stage was of an interesting character and won frequent applause, as much for the good fielding as the batsmen's efforts. S. Wallace replaced Turnbull bowling to Bradbery. In his second over Bradbery not only under one of his deliveries and sent it high over the fence into Queen's Road. Good steady play followed and 70 appeared on the board without either men having given many opportunities. Potter took the bowling again and his first over resulted in no addition to the score. Lanning came on at the opposite end and was driven for one each by both batsmen when the ball ran.

THE CANTON BUND.
People Desire to Control it.
(From Our Correspondent.)
CANTON, November 12.
The native press here is urging that the construction of the new bund be handed over to the business people, who will speedily construct it, run it, and keep it in good repair. It is suggested that a bonus of $100,000 be at once handed over to the officials; then a fee hand should be given to the company to manage the bund. When the work is finished the market value of the reclaimed land will, it is assumed be more than $5,000,000. Of this sum, $2,000,000 shall go to the provincial treasury, and the remaining $3,000,000 shall be divided between the company and the business people for what they have disbursed. This scheme is now being seriously considered and it is believed that a good profit can be made. The bundaries have been repeatedly worked out. The cost of construction will be about one million taels. There will be the further cost of about 600,000 taels for sand and rubbish for the filling in. In addition to the funds derived by the sale of the land, rents and licenses for the landing stages and the dockhouses, etc., may be expected to bring in more than ten thousand dollars yearly. Since this scheme has been discussed, business firms have been eager to secure plots, and if the work is vigorously pushed forward, it can be completed within a year. But the officials who now have the work in hand do not understand and cannot comprehend business. They have already raised the price of the land so high that merchants cannot themselves go in to buy, and the result is that without buying. Moreover, the provincial treasury cannot find the necessary capital, and, therefore, if it is left in the hands of the mandarins, the work will drag on to an interminable time. The old bund is an example of what they are wont to do. If the officials cannot push the thing forward, they should hand it over to a vigorous company. It may be expected that those who occupy plots on the river front will oppose, and perhaps will litigate; moreover, when foreigners are concerned there must be caution; but those who think that business people cannot put the thing through, but will have to trust to the officials, will find themselves mistaken.

CANTON NOTES.
(From Our Correspondent.)
CANTON, November 12.
IS HE A TYPICAL MANDARIN?
In the Western suburbs, one Cheung Chiu Tsung, who has earned for himself the nickname of 'Emperor Cheung,' some time ago was put in charge of the police, and, when he entered upon his duties, because the Viceroy's new police were also stationed there, dismissed his own ' Braves' who numbered one hundred and fifty men, and pocketed their pay, which amounted to the respectable sum of $50 per day. Public funds allotted to the public wall, thus went into a private bag. Further he had been protecting unauthorized and private gambling dens near Ng Sin Min, where the Viceroy's police have not yet been stationed.
